

Of Interest to Dressmakers!

(AMATEUR AND PROFESSIONAL)

And to All Others Who Use Patterns!

The success or failure of home dressmaking depends largely upon the pattern used. Therefore if you are looking for success, and not failure, it behooves you to use the best pattern on the market, one far above the ordinary, one which is characterized by accuracy in drafting, simplicity of construction and elegance of design—that pattern is the Standard. If you have as yet not known the satisfaction attending the use of a perfect pattern, we advise you to delay no longer. It is never too late to mend, but now is the time for the unsuccessful dressmaker to become encouraged again and start on the right track. We know what we are promising, when we assure you that Standard Patterns are supreme in every respect over any pattern made, whether higher or lower in price. We know Standard Patterns are as perfect as modern skill in drafting and designing can make them. We know that no other pattern can give such general satisfaction. We know that no other pattern will give such grace and style. We know that no other pattern is so simple of construction and so readily comprehended, and we want you to know it, too. It's an investment guaranteeing success—that 10c or 15c which pays for a Standard Pattern.

RAIN BADLY NEEDED.

Grass Has Turned to Hay, With No One to Cut It.

Burlington, Aug. 20.—Farmers in this city yesterday from various parts of the state expressed great alarm over the present drought. "It hasn't rained for weeks," said a man who resides on the B. & L. road, "and the uncut grass has already turned to hay. On many farms there is a scarcity of water, the springs having dried up, and some farmers have turned their cows into the meadows so that they may get enough to eat."

Fortunately haying was completed before the effects of the dry spell were felt, but the corn and other growing crops are now sadly in need of rain.

The securing of sufficient farm help has also been a hard problem for many farmers to solve this season. Although the pay has been larger than since war times, men have been loath to tender their services, and haying was badly handicapped this season.

"It's good times, though," resumed the Lamelle county man. "I guess we can get along all right, with butter and potatoes selling at top notch prices."

TRAMP MAKES CONFESSION.

In Terror of Lynching, Cries: "I Don't Know Why I Did It."

Meadville, Pa., Aug. 20.—In momentary expectation of being taken from the officers by the crowd which formed a gauntlet from the jail to Magistrate Powers' office late yesterday, Henry W. Wagner, the assailant of Miss Alma Whitehead, pleaded guilty when arraigned, anxious to get back to the security of the jail. The expressions Wagner heard as he passed to and from the prison indicated that it would have taken little to precipitate a lynching.

Wagner has made a complete confession to Sheriff Marshall and a deputy, in addition to pleading guilty before the committing magistrate. Wagner described in detail his attack on Miss Whitehead in the public road near her home at Turner'sville, how he carried her into the woods, and all that happened before he released her at daylight. His excuse is: "I don't know why I did it."

Wagner is a German, 27 years old, of medium size. His right eye is missing. He is a typical tramp in dress and appearance. The maximum penalty for his crime is $1,000 fine and fifteen years' imprisonment. The report from Turner'sville is that Miss Whitehead will recover.
